The ADFP Foundation supports daily, and through a wide range of social responses and residences, women/mothers in poverty, children “without family”, young people and adults with disabilities or mental illness, sick elderly people at the end of their lives, refugees and “homeless” people.

With services also in the areas of education, culture and health, the ADFP Foundation is recognized across borders as an example in the occupational inclusion of people with handicaps and, under the motto “Investing with kindness in people”, seeks to carry out all its daily activities preserving humanist values.

Investments in areas such as tourism, agriculture or viticulture arise with the aim of diversifying income, in an effort of not depending entirely on State support and to create jobs, also seeking to contribute to the development of the region.

This strategy includes facilities such as the Conímbriga Hotel do Paço and the Gavius Restaurant, the Parque Serra da Lousã Hotel and the Chanfana Museum Restaurant, the Serra da Lousã Biological Park and the Universalist Ecumenical Temple.

TEAM BUILDINGS

The conditions presented by the units of the Tourism with Purpose project, as well as the concept behind it, make these solutions ideal for companies looking for a place to carry out team building activities.

On the one hand, both units present favorable conditions for holding meetings, training sessions or conferences in a classroom setting and, on the other hand, the privileged connection to the Serra da Lousã Biological Park, the Universalist Ecumenical Temple and the ADFP Foundation itself brings up a whole world of opportunities in carrying out activities in a unique context of social responsibility.

Among the possible experiences we find, for example, social activities with the elderly and children (animation), participation in the distribution of meals to the homeless, feeding the animals in the Park with a guided visit and monitoring of the Biologist, experience of the harvest, wine tasting, among many others.

SERRA DA LOUSÃ BIOLOGICAL PARK

Located on the slopes of Serra da Lousã, the Serra da Lousã Biological Park represents the largest sample of wild fauna in Portugal.

Having emerged with the aim of privileging and helping in the conservation of the species that inhabit or have inhabited the Portuguese territory, along the approximately 33 000 m² of the National Ecological Reserve it is possible to observe unrecoverable specimens of species of birds of prey, brown bears, lynxes, wolves, foxes, wild boar, deer, among many other animals.

Making the preservation of wildlife its main mission, the Park is also an innovative project with regard to the integration of people who are victims of labor exclusion, with most of its employees being people with physical or mental disabilities who find their purpose here.

The Park is divided into several areas, namely the Wildlife Park, the Pedagogical Farm, the Equestrian Center, the Espaço da Mente Museum, the Cooperage Museum and the Museum of Traditional Arts and Crafts.

When visiting the Park it is possible to carry out unique experiences such as feeding the animals or horse riding.

ECUMENICAL AND UNIVERSALIST TEMPLE

The Ecumenical and Universalist Temple is a unique place in the world, dedicated to spiritual reflection. Promoting fundamental values of humanity and religions, such as Truth, Goodness and Morals, the space emphasizes tolerance and respect for the different.

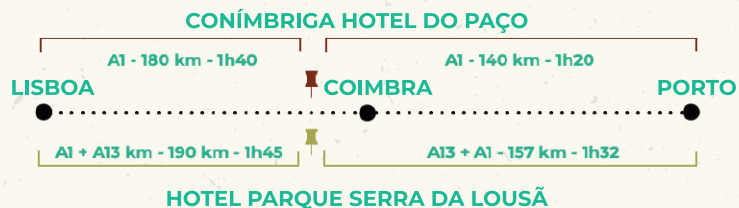

Rising magically on top of the Biological Park Mountain, this is a monument dedicated to Peace, which seeks to honor the victims of fundamentalism and religious intolerance.

Inside, the Observatory of Religions, provides the visitor with facts, chronological data and information about the history and evolution of 15 different religious views.
